

ANS NEWSLETTER

THE AMERICAN NUMISMATIC SOCIETY

Broadway at 155th Street, New York, NY 10032

212/234-3130

Spring 1984

Bass to Retire as ANS President

At the Society's Spring Meeting, Harry W. Bass, Jr., the Society's President since 1978, announced his intention to relinquish that office as of July 20, 1984, the date of the next Council meeting. Mr. Bass had earlier made his intentions known in a letter to the Council, and at its meeting of April 14, the Council, with reluctance, acceded to his wishes. He will continue as a member of the Society's governing body to which he was first elected in 1972. Mr. Bass is President of Bass Bros. of Dallas, Texas.

Mr. Bass will be succeeded by Harry W. Fowler, the current First Vice-President of the Society. Mr. Fowler is Chairman of the Fiduciary Trust Company of New York.

During his seven terms as President, Mr. Bass has overseen a Society that has consciously attempted to make itself better known to a wider circle of friends and supporters and to keep its great treasures available for study while recognizing the need to protect these assets from loss. It was during his tenure that the highly successful ANS Newsletter was inaugurated and the voting class of membership, Fellows, was increased to 200. Mr. Bass presided over the planning and realization of the Society's 125th anniversary which attracted an international audience and which included installation of the major new exhibition, The World of Money.

It was Mr. Bass's foresight and generosity which made possible the development and acquisition of the Society's computer system. Now in its third year of use at the Society, the computer is integral to the work of the curatorial department and is increasingly essential for the research undertaken by the students in the graduate seminar program.

Mr. Bass's interest in the Society's Library goes back to the beginning of his association with the Society in 1966. He has served on the Library Committee since 1968 and as its chairman since 1980. With his encouragement and support, both the main reading room and the east library have been equipped with Spacesaver shelving units during the past three years. Use of these units permits a greater part of the collection to be immediately available to our readers while also allowing the staff to control access to individual shelving units. In addition, his personal knowledge of the numismatic book market has been of great value to the Society's Librarian in monitoring works that require increased security.

(Coin World photo)

Later this year the Society will hold the first annual Coinage of the Americas Conference, a project conceived by Mr. Bass and enthusiastically adopted by the Society's Council and staff. The response to date to the announcement of the 1984 con-

NINE SELECTED FOR GRADUATE SEMINAR

Nine students from nine different universities will attend the thirty-second Graduate Seminar in Numismatics, to be held at the Society's Museum from June 12 to August 11. The seminar involves an intensive program of lectures and conferences as well as research on topics selected by the students culminating in oral presentations during the ninth week.

Sessions are conducted by all the members of the curatorial staff. Dr. Michel Amandry of the Bibliothèque Nationale, Paris, this year's Visiting Scholar, will deliver three specialized talks on the coinage of Amathus in Cyprus, the Fleet coinage of Marc Antony, and the coinage of Tingi. In addition, Dr. Pierre Bastien of Cranbury, N.J., a Huntington Medallist, will introduce the students to the mint of Lugdunum; "A Servant of Numismatists: the Computer" will be the topic of a discussion by Prof. Giles F. Carter of Eastern Michigan University; Prof. Peter P. Gaspar of Washington University will discuss die manufacture and minting technique from ancient times through the industrial revolution; Prof. Fred S. Kleiner of Boston University will speak about the Arch of Nero at Rome; Nicholas M. Lowick of the British Museum will discuss silver from the Panjhir mines; Eric P. Newman of St. Louis will treat early American paper money; ference is ample proof that this project will have a very successful future.

(continued on page 2)

As Mr. Bass informed the Council, although he seeks to have less direct responsibility for the affairs of the Society, he intends to remain an active and interested member of its governing body.

EVANS AWARDED ANS FELLOWSHIP

(Photo by George S. Cuhaj)

The Graduate Fellowship in Numismatics for 1984/5 has been awarded to Jane DeRose Evans who will be writing her dissertation on cults of early Rome as they appear on Republican and Imperial coins. Mrs. Evans did her undergraduate work at Franklin and Marshall College, and is currently a Ph.D. candidate in the Department of Classical Archaeology at the University of Pennsylvania. Her archaeological field experience includes participation in excavations in England, France, Greece, and Italy. Mrs. Evans was a student in the 1983 Graduate Seminar, where she prepared a paper on the coinage of Sextus Pompey.

The Fellowship carries a stipend of $3,500. It is awarded to a student who is preparing a dissertation in which the use of numismatic evidence plays a significant part, and who has completed both general examinations and the Society's Graduate Seminar.

BATES ATTENDS INC

The governing Bureau of the International Numismatic Commission, including Michael L. Bates, ANS Curator of Islamic Coins, met March 26 in Berlin, German Democratic Republic, as guests of the Coin Cabinet of the State Museum of Berlin. For the first time in eleven years, the Bureau raised the dues for members of the Commission to 200 SFR per year. This increase has been made necessary by increased editorial and travel costs.

The Bureau welcomed three new members to the commission and discussed membership recruitment in general. Readers of the ANS Newsletter are reminded that all numismatic institutions—museums, societies, and mints—are eligible for membership in the INC. Interested parties should write to the Secretary, Kolbjørn Skaare, Universitetets Myntkabinett, Frederiksgate 2, Oslo 1 Norway.

Herbert Cahn, editor of the INC Newsletter, asked Bureau members to help provide material for the publication, which includes notices of numismatic research, educational courses, new books, exhibits, personnel changes, and especially Forum, a venue for discussion of issues and problems in numismatic scholarship. ANS members are invited to submit INC Newsletter items to Mr. Cahn. The INC Newsletter will be sent regularly to anyone who requests it from Herbert Cahn, Rüttimeyerstrasse 12, CH-4054, Basel, Switzerland.

The organizing committee for the next International Numismatic Congress reported that the Congress will be held in London, September 8-12, 1986. The first invitational brochure will be sent out in autumn 1984. The Survey of Numismatic Research, covering numismatic publications since 1979, and the papers of the Congress will again be published through the generous support of the International Association of Professional Numismatists.

The Bureau's next meeting has been scheduled in Munich, at the time of the International Congress of Historical Sciences which will take place in Stuttgart, August 24 to September 1, 1985. At the CISH, there will be a day-long numismatic session with invited speakers.

In addition to their business session, the members of the Bureau enjoyed the hospitality of Heinz Fengler, Director of the Berlin Coin Cabinet and his staff, and were able to visit also the Dresden Coin Cabinet where they were welcomed by Peter Arnold and staff. The high points of their stay in the GDR were visits to the art collections in the Berlin and Dresden Museums, and especially (for Bates) an afternoon in the fabulous collection of European paintings in the Zwinger Palace in Dresden, one of the greatest assemblies of old masters anywhere.

(Continued on next page 1)

methods of coin analysis will be summarized by Prof. Elizabeth J. Rock of Wellesley College, and Leslie Beer Tobey of Marblehead, Mass. will demonstrate the operation of an ancient mint.

DOTY ACTIVE IN PAPER MONEY RESEARCH

Research in early American currency and paper money will lead to a good deal of traveling over the next few months for Richard Doty, ANS Curator of Modern Coins and Paper Money. He has been invited to visit the American collections at the College of William and Mary and the South Carolina State Museum in May. He will represent the Society at the International Paper Money Show (Memphis, June 15-17). From there he will go on to Missouri, where he has been invited to examine a large paper money collection at the Ralph Foster Museum of the School of the Ozarks. According to Calvin Allen, Assistant Director of the Museum, the collection contains very extensive holdings in obsolete American currency of the nineteenth century. This will complement the research Doty pursued at the North Carolina State Museum of History, Raleigh, in 1982 and 1983.

At the Society, the ANS collection of Southern States and Confederate currency has now been fully entered in the computer system, according to Doty. The Society provides printout from its database, at moderate cost, in response to inquiry.

Doty at ANA

In late July, Doty will be the Society representative at the 93rd Convention of the American Numismatic Association, held in Detroit. The Society will host an Information Booth again this year, courtesy of the ANA.

Students in Attendance

The students, with their academic affiliations and fields of interest, are as follows: Yvonne Seng Bishop (University of Chicago), Islamic; Irving T. Gumb (Institute of Fine Arts, New York University), Roman; William Edwin Mierse (Brown University), Roman; Carla J. Oakes (University of Iowa), Roman; George E. Pesely (State University of New York at Buffalo), Greek; Martha K. Risser (University of Pennsylvania), Greek; Lenore M. Rouse (Fordham University), Medieval; Salih K. Sari (University of Michigan), Islamic; and Joseph B. Scholten (University of California at Berkeley), Greek. A stipend of $900 for each student is provided through the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. Eric P. Newman of St. Louis.

BEGINNING OF COINAGE SUBJECT OF LONDON COLLOQUIUM

Nancy M. Waggoner was among 17 participants representing 8 different countries at the Colloquium on the "Archaic Temple of Artemis at Ephesus: A Reconsideration of the Earliest Finds," held at the British Museum, March 23-24, 1984.

The Great Temple of Artemis at Ephesus, dated to the time of Croesus (561-546 B.C.) represents the fourth and final building stage. The deposits recovered from the first level, the Archaic temple, during British excavations in 1904, have provided the earliest archaeological context in which coins have yet been found. The latter, 96 electrum coins in all, consisted chiefly of pieces from a deposit in the central Basis, and a pothoard of 19 coins found in the same general area. However, because of swampy conditions at the lowest stratified levels and the elusive absolute dates of artifacts other than the coins included among the finds, the date for the appearance of these earliest coins has remained highly controversial between those who champion the traditional date of eighth to early seventh century B.C., and those who now accept a date around 625-600, based initially on E.S.G. Robinson's revolutionary assessment of the coin deposits, published in JHS 71 (1951). As pointed out in two papers, P. Jacobsthal in his companion piece to Robinson's article in JHS never did in fact attach precise dates to the individual pieces of pottery, faience, jewelry, ivory, etc., from the Artemesium.

The goal of this international effort was thus to arrive at a more accurate absolute date for the beginnings of coinage, based on the findings of current excavations in the vicinity by an Austrian team, and on the most recent analyses and interpretations of comparable artifacts, other than the coins, by scholars in their respective fields.

Conference Highlights

Aside from Mrs. Waggoner's paper, entitled "The Electrum Coins of Athens: Legacy from Asia Minor," all papers addressed the Ephesus assemblages directly. Highlights include the following: 1) The Colloquium opened with the startling suggestion that the Lydian electrum wart-nosed lion's heads, well represented in the Ephesus deposits, remained the coinage under Croesus and that all of the gold and silver coins until now attributed to him should be given to the Persian king, Darius.

ROSEN COLLECTION PUBLISHED

Early Greek Coins from the Collection of Jonathan P. Rosen, by Nancy M. Waggoner, is now available from the Society. Published as No. 5 in the series, Ancient Coins in North American Collections, this work brings to the series an unusual concentration on the beginnings of coinage. The author is ANS Curator of Greek Coins.

Among the 770 coins catalogued is an impressive assemblage of small fractions, many of which are illustrated in enlargement as well as actual size.

Early Greek Coins from the Collection of Jonathan P. Rosen, by Nancy M. Waggoner, ACNAC 5 (1983), 55 pp., 28 plates, $35.00 plus postage and handling ($1.00 U.S., $1.50 elsewhere).

Distributed to Subscribers

ACNAC 5 will be distributed to all ANS members holding a Publications Subscription. Subscribers may also expect to receive, in addition to the Society's journal American Numismatic Society Museum Notes, the Annual Report and the quarterly ANS Newsletter, issued to all members, the following publications slated for publication during the year: The Arthur S. Dewing Collection of Greek Coins (ACNAC 6), edited by Leo Mildenberg; The Venetian Torneseello, a Medieval Colonial Coinage (ANSNM 163), by Alan M. Stahl; The Coinage of Metapontum by Sydney P. Noe, revised edition by Ann Johnston (originally published as ANSNM 32 and 47); and Numismatic Literature.

NL 111/112 in September

All members of the Society received ANSMN 28 (1983) recently. This issue of the Society's journal contains ten articles covering a broad range of topics. In addition, NL 110 was mailed in March to subscribers. The next issue of NL will be the combined number 111/112 (March/September 1984). It will be published in September and will include the complete list of Periodical Abbreviations. NL may be subscribed to annually at $8.00 plus postage or received as part of the Publications Subscription, currently $45.00.

2) Current excavations, begun in 1965, centered around a large sacrificial courtyard built about 620 B.C. at the west side of the Great Temple. The years 620-580

(continued on page 6)

BENEFACTORS, PATRONS RECORDED

With great pleasure, the Council of the Society recorded upon the Minutes of its April meeting, the names of two new Benefactors and eight Patrons.

Benefactors of the Society are those who, according to the ANS Constitution, contribute $100,000 or its equivalent to the "funds, cabinets, library and collection" of the Society. Named as Benefactors are Jonathan P. Rosen and Mark and Lottie Salton.

Mr. Rosen has contributed handsomely to the classical cabinets and has supported various special projects. His extraordinary collection of early Greek coins has been published by the Society as ACNAC 5, and is now available. Mr. and Mrs. Salton have contributed systematically over the past several years, benefiting various curatorial departments as well as the library. The names of Benefactors of the Society are engraved on marble tablets in the entrance hall of the Society's building.

Attending the Society's Spring Meeting were Baldwin Maull, ANS Councillor, and Mark M. Salton, newly designated as a Benefactor of the ANS

(Coin World photo)

New Patrons Listed

The Society's Constitution provides that persons who contribute $10,000 or its equivalent shall be named as Patrons of the Society. Those so honored by the Council at its April meeting were Henry C. Lindgren of San Francisco, California; William Maksudian, Larchmont, New York; Athos Moretti, Milan, Italy; Sheikh Nasser al-Sabah, Safat, Kuwait; Donald G. Partrick, South Hauppauge, New York; Abraham D. Sofaer, New York, New York; Dr. Juan B. Suros, Chula Vista, California; and Russel Trenholme, Minneapolis, Minnesota.

The Society is grateful to all these donors for their generous interest.

NEW EXHIBIT, NEW LOOK AT ANS

East Hall of the Society, newly installed East Hall

A new exhibition has been installed in the Society's East Hall, displaying a range of medals and decorations from the Society's collection. The new exhibit complements "The World of Money" which opened in the West Hall in September. Previously, the East Hall had featured a special exhibit of the medallic work of Guido Veroi, the Italian sculptor who received the Society's 1983 Saltus Award for outstanding achievement in the art of the medal. Immediately before that show, the East Hall had been devoted to the first annual Medallic and Bas Relief Sculpture Exhibition, jointly sponsored by the ANS and the American Medallic Sculpture Association.

The current exhibit was installed by Alan Stahl, ANS curator of medals, together with the Society's new curatorial technician, Marlene Rock.

East Hall Refurbished

The Society's East Exhibition Hall has taken on a new look for 1984. The center kiosk has been removed to open up the room and the floor has been carpeted to match that of the West Hall. These changes, in addition to improving the appearance of the room, will also facilitate the display of topical exhibits in conjunction with the annual Coinage of the Americas conferences. With the center of the room now open, exhibitors will be able to use standard show cases for their displays.

FELLOWS ELECTED

The Society's Council, at its April meeting, elected two members to the status of Fellow of the Society: John H. Kroll and Alan M. Stahl. Mr. Kroll, Associate Professor of Classics at the University of Texas at Austin and a member of the ANS since 1966, was also elected as a member of the Society's Council. Mr. Stahl, an Associate since 1976, is ANS Associate Curator of Medieval Coins and curator of the medals collection.

Veroi Life Fellow

In accordance with Article 1.3 of the Society's By-Laws, Guido Veroi, the recipient of the J. Sanford Saltus Medal Award for 1983, was elected a Life Fellow of the Society. Mr. Veroi, a resident of Rome, Italy, is the first person, not resident of the United States, to be so honored by the Society for distinguished achievement in the art of the medal.

(NHC continued from page 5)

renewed emphasis and visibility, and to the growing recognition within the country at large that the humanities offer resources for enlightenment and the imaginative understanding of public issues.

In its five years of existence, the National Humanities Center has developed a successful fellowship program and sponsored

ACLS TRAVEL GRANTS

The American Council of Learned Societies, in cooperation with its constituent societies, administers a program of travel grants. The program, funded by the Ford Foundation and the National Endowment for the Humanities, provides partial funding to enable scholars in humanistic disciplines to participate in international meetings held outside of North America. Application forms may be requested by writing directly to the ACLS (Attention: Travel Grant Program), 228 E. 45th Street, New York, NY 10017, setting forth the name, dates, place, and sponsorship of the meeting as well as a brief statement describing the nature of your proposed role in the meeting. The deadlines for return of application forms are as follows:

Meeting Dates	Application Deadline	Decision Announced
Nov.-Feb.	1 July	1 Sept
Mar.-June	1 Nov.	1 Jan
July-Oct.	1 Mar.	1 May

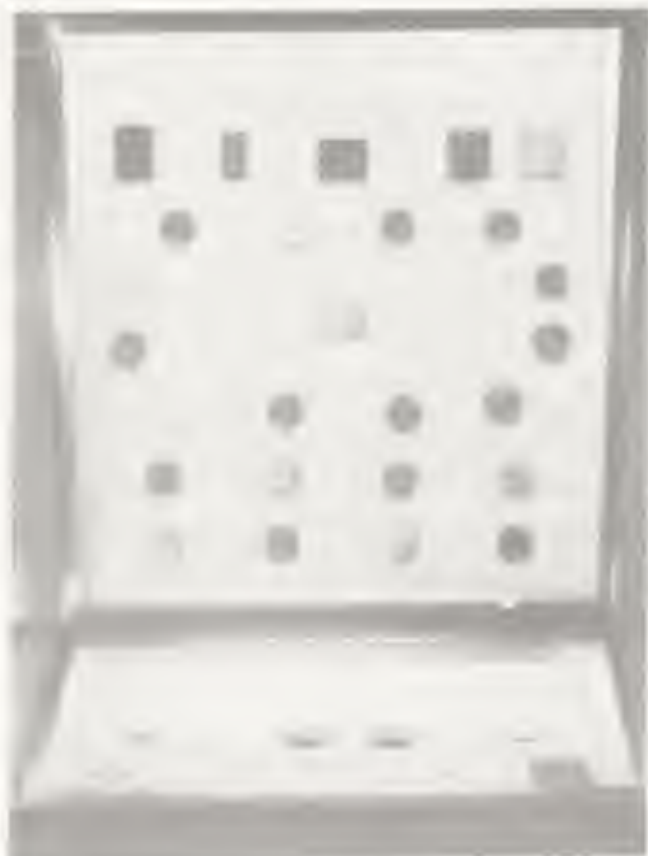

The ACLS also administers a variety of postdoctoral fellowship and grant-in-aid programs, both general and area specialized. Information on these programs is available from the ACLS. New this year is the ACLS/Ford Foundation fellowship program, providing support for humanistic research projects which bear on social issues about which the foundation is particularly concerned.

CORRIGENDUM

The denarius of Juba 1, illustrated in fig. 3 on p. 12 of the Annual Report for 1983 was erroneously identified as the gift of Donald J. Golden. This should be corrected to read George M. Golden.

sored conferences and seminars on topics in the humanities. It also distributes a radio program on the humanities on over 250 commercial and public stations nationwide.

In a continuing effort to be responsive to the needs of humanistic scholarship and to establish closer relations with members of learned societies, the Center invites scholars in the humanities to suggest activities that might complement the programs of the Center. For additional information, please write to John O'Connor, Assistant Director for Programs, National Humanities Center, 7 Alexander Drive, Research Triangle Park, NC 27709.

KROLL ELECTED TO COUNCIL

John H. Kroll, Associate Professor of Classics at the University of Texas, Austin, has been elected to the Society's governing Council. He succeeds Theodore A. Buttrey, whose resignation from the Council was recorded at the April meeting.

(Photo by Frank Armstrong)

Kroll, who earned his doctorate at Harvard University in 1968, has had extensive archaeological experience, serving as staff member and numismatist for excavations at Sardis, Corinth and Athens. At Texas, he organized, in 1978, a numismatic symposium and exhibition, "Coins of the Roman Empire," based on the Swenson collection. Among Kroll's numismatic publications are two articles which appeared in the Society's journal, ANSMN, the first of which resulted from his research at the 1963 ANS Graduate Seminar in Numismatics. Kroll also currently serves as Secretary and member of the Managing Committee of the American School of Classical Studies in Athens.

Buttrey Served 21 Years

Prior to his resignation, Mr. Buttrey had served as a member of the Society's Council continuously from October 1962. He also served on the Publications Committee from 1962 and as its Chairman from 1974 until 1983, and on the Huntington Award Committee from 1964 to 1970, serving as Chairman of the committee since 1970 and as the frequent author of the citations honoring the award recipients. Mr. Buttrey, who is Professor and Chairman of the Department of Classics at the University of Missouri, is a Life Fellow and a Benefactor of the Society.

EMERY MAY NORWEB

At its April meeting the Society's Council paid tribute to the memory of Emery May Norweb who died in Cleveland on March 27. Mrs. Norweb served on the Council during the decade 1968-1978 and on the Executive Committee of the Council from 1970 to 1978. Upon retirement, she was elected an Honorary Councillor for Life by the membership. Her collecting and study interests were as deep as they were varied. She generously shared her treasures with the Society for future generations to enjoy. She shared her knowledge through participation on standing committees of the Society, initially the U.S. Coinage Committee and, following reorganization, the Committee on Modern Coins and Currency and that of Medieval and Early Modern Coins which she chaired for several years.

Society President Harry W. Bass, Jr. expressed the great sympathy of the Council and the Society to Mrs. Norweb's son, R. Henry Norweb, who serves on the ANS governing board.

AMERICAS CONFERENCE PROGRESSES

"America's Copper Coinage, 1783-1857" is the topic of the first annual Coinage of the Americas Conference, to be held at the ANS, November 30-December 2, 1984. Plans for the conference, which will combine papers and discussion with exhibits relating to the theme, are proceeding on schedule, according to ANS Curator Richard Doty, head of the Organizing Committee. Other members of the committee are George Ewing, Jr., Denis Loring, Eric P. Newman and Donald Partrick.

Response thus far to the call for papers has been very encouraging, with a number of specialists scheduled to speak, including John Adams, Walter Breen, George Ewing, Denis Loring, Eric Newman, Donald Partrick, Julius Reiver, Herbert Silberman, Peter Smith, and Robert Vlack. The Organizing Committee has set June 30 as the deadline for submission of ideas for papers, following which the program will be established and the speakers notified. All interested in participating are urged to contact Doty at the ANS. Speakers are asked to limit their talks to 20-30 minutes.

Exhibits Solicited

Exhibits on the theme of the conference are solicited for display in the Society's

RESEARCH FUND ESTABLISHED

The Society's Council has accepted an anonymous contribution to establish The Donald Groves Fund to promote research and publication in the field of early American numismatics.

To be eligible for consideration, projects must involve material dated no later than 1800. Funding will be available principally for travel in association with archival research, and publication costs. Requests will also be considered for other expenses associated with research such as supplies, reproductions and photography.

Applicants should address a letter to the Secretary of the ANS, Broadway at 155th Street, New York, NY 10032, outlining the proposed research project, the method of accomplishing the research, the funding requested and the specific uses to which the funds are to be put. Applications will also be considered for publication support for manuscripts on topics meeting the fund's criteria.

Projects meeting the criteria for support will be reviewed periodically by The Donald Groves Fund Committee which will make its recommendations to the Society's Council. The Society's President has appointed the following to serve on the committee: Mrs. Marion G. Russell, a member of the ANS Council; Donald Partrick, a Fellow of the Society and a student of American colonial and early federal coinage; and Richard Doty, ANS Curator of Modern Coins.

NHC REQUESTS IDEAS

The National Humanities Center is an institute for advanced study created to encourage scholarship in the humanities and to enhance the usefulness and influence of the humanities in the United States. It is a response to the widely felt need within the academic world to give the humanities

(continued on page 7)

East Hall, which has recently been renovated for this purpose. Displays will be exhibited in standard show cases placed on rows of tables in the center of the hall. Exhibitors are invited to provide their own cases or to use those available from the ANS. Those interested in exhibiting should notify Mr. Doty before June 30. In addition to private collections, a selection from the Society's own collection will be on view during the period of the conference.

Calendar

June

- 12 ANS Graduate Seminar begins
30 ANSMN 30 (1985) article submission deadline

July

- 4 Society closed—Independence Day
19 Finance Committee, 3:00
20 Council Meeting, 2:00
28-1 ANA Convention, Detroit:
Richard Doty, ANS representative;
Member volunteers will man the
ANS Information Booth

August

- 11 Last day of ANS Graduate
Seminar

(Colloquium, continued from page 3)

B.C., contemporary with Temple B, saw the greatest period of use and some marble was used in the building of the Croesus temple. However, the overall evidence is not sufficient to establish a date for Temple A.

3) Babylonian sources and Assyrian texts may be effectively disregarded, as providing no evidence for the association of a Dygdame as a leader of the Cimmerians, or for a Cimmerian destruction of the Archaic stage of the temple, which would otherwise strengthen a date of about 660 B.C. as a terminus ante quem for the Archaic phase and for the deposits in it.

4) Scarabs: There were 25 altogether and they are not datable. They are copies of genuine Egyptian scarabs of a much earlier date. The inscriptions were not understood, garbled, and therefore provide no criteria for dating. They could date from the 26th Dynasty, 650-525 B.C.

5) Faience: Eight sherds were recovered but none from the Basis (Period A). They can be dated to the second half of the seventh century by comparison with similar stratified finds from Rhodes, Perachora, Samos, etc., all showing contact with Egypt.

6) Figurines: The drapery folds are now proved to be seventh century on evidence from Cyprus.

7) Jewelry: There were several different items, some of which are not closely datable, but most are Greek in style, 625-550 B.C. They were probably deposited within the same period, which would make 610-550 B.C. likely dates.

8) Pottery: The Basis (stage A) was probably constructed ca. 630/620 B.C. on the grounds of the pottery alone which represents fine East Greek ware.

There was still some option for electrum fractions with geometric patterns, not among the finds at Ephesus, to be the earliest coins of all and therefore of an early seventh-century date.

Perhaps the most valuable contribution was the fact that the pot in which the 19 coins were found is a Samian jug which can now be dated earlier than the last quarter of the seventh century, probably 650-625 B.C.

The net results of this gathering were not conclusive, but they pave the way for narrowing the scope of the problem. General conclusions speak for the second half of the seventh century B.C., as Robinson originally suggested.

ASSOCIATES ELECTED

At its April meeting, the Society's Council elected 29 new Associates and reinstated 1 former member. Those elected are Gregory J. Bittner, Remsenburg, NY; James H. Blind, Tamarac, FL; Joseph P. Candella, Sr., Lawrence, NY; Eugene F. Dean, Fort Ord, CA; Richard G. Doty, New York, NY; Michael Egger, Munich, Germany; Michael Leonard Fogarty, New York, NY; John R. Gainor, Don Mills, Canada; Georges Gautier, Paris, France; and Giorgio Giacosa, Zurich, Switzerland.

Also Stephan Heidemann, W. Berlin, Germany; Ellen M. Jacobsen, New York, NY; Romanin J. Juon, Zurich, Switzerland; William Kazan, Paris, France; Robert C. Knapp, North Bergen, NJ; Marvin W. Kushnet, Schenectady, NY; Dale P. Ludanich, Joliet, IL; Hubert D. McCollum, Pine Bluff, AR; Marvin M. McNeil, Woodland Hills, CA; and Ahmed Mobin, Islamabad, Pakistan.

Also, Ernest J. Richards, Jr., Lake Worth, FL; Fabrizio Rossini, Washington, DC; Robert L. Sacks, South Orange, NJ; Robert E. Spears, Neptune Beach, FL; A.A. Sumana, Jakarta Barat, Indonesia; Fred Thomas, Tokyo, Japan; William J. Ulrich, Robbinsdale, MN; Barry Wexler, Nanuet, NY; and Mark Wieclaw, New Lenox, IL.

In addition, John A. Seeger of Flagstaff, AZ, was reinstated as an Associate Member.

The Proceedings are to be published as soon as possible in a special publication of the British Museum.

The American Numismatic Society

BROADWAY AT 155TH STREET

NEW YORK, N.Y. 10032

NON-PROFIT ORG.
U. S. POSTAGE
PAID
NEW YORK, NY
Permit No. 1755

MISSOURI NUMISMATIC SOCIETY
505 GRAND AVE.
ST. LOUIS, MO 63111

Calendar

June

- 12 ANS Graduate Seminar begins
- 30 ANSMN 30 (1985) article submission deadline

July

- 4 Society closed—Independence Day
- 19 Finance Committee, 3:00
- 20 Council Meeting, 2:00
- 28-1 ANA Convention, Detroit:
Richard Doty, ANS representative;
Member volunteers will man the
ANS Information Booth

August

- 11 Last day of ANS Graduate Seminar

(Colloquium, continued from page 3)

B.C., contemporary with Temple B, saw the greatest period of use and some marble was used in the building of the Croesus temple. However, the overall evidence is not sufficient to establish a date for Temple A.

3) Babylonian sources and Assyrian texts may be effectively disregarded, as providing no evidence for the association of a Dygdame as a leader of the Cimmerians, or for a Cimmerian destruction of the Archaic stage of the temple, which would otherwise strengthen a date of about 660 B.C. as a terminus ante quem for the Archaic phase and for the deposits in it.

4) Scarabs: There were 25 altogether and they are not datable. They are copies of genuine Egyptian scarabs of a much earlier date. The inscriptions were not understood, garbled, and therefore provide no criteria for dating. They could date from the 26th Dynasty, 650-525 B.C.

5) Faience: Eight sherds were recovered but none from the Basis (Period A). They can be dated to the second half of the seventh century by comparison with similar stratified finds from Rhodes, Perachora, Samos, etc., all showing contact with Egypt.

6) Figurines: The drapery folds are now proved to be seventh century on evidence from Cyprus.

7) Jewelry: There were several different items, some of which are not closely datable, but most are Greek in style, 625-550 B.C. They were probably deposited within the same period, which would make 610-550 B.C. likely dates.

8) Pottery: The Basis (stage A) was probably constructed ca. 630/620 B.C. on the grounds of the pottery alone which represents fine East Greek ware.

There was still some option for electrum fractions with geometric patterns, not among the finds at Ephesus, to be the earliest coins of all and therefore of an early seventh-century date.

Perhaps the most valuable contribution was the fact that the pot in which the 19 coins were found is a Samian jug which can now be dated earlier than the last quarter of the seventh century, probably 650-625 B.C.

The net results of this gathering were not conclusive, but they pave the way for narrowing the scope of the problem. General conclusions speak for the second half of the seventh century B.C., as Robinson originally suggested.

ASSOCIATES ELECTED

At its April meeting, the Society's Council elected 29 new Associates and reinstated 1 former member. Those elected are Gregory J. Bittner, Reimsburg, NY; James H. Blind, Tamarac, FL; Joseph P. Candella, Sr., Lawrence, NY; Eugene F. Dean, Fort Ord, CA; Richard G. Doty, New York, NY; Michael Egger, Munich, Germany; Michael Leonard Fogarty, New York, NY; John R. Gainor, Don Mills, Canada; Georges Gautier, Paris, France; and Giorgio Giacosa, Zurich, Switzerland.

Also Stephan Heidemann, W. Berlin, Germany; Ellen M. Jacobsen, New York, NY; Romanin J. Juon, Zurich, Switzerland; William Kazan, Paris, France; Robert C. Knapp, North Bergen, NJ; Marvin W. Kushnet, Schenectady, NY; Dale P. Ludanich, Joliet, IL; Hubert D. McCollum, Pine Bluff, AR; Marvin M. McNeil, Woodland Hills, CA; and Ahmed Mobin, Islamabad, Pakistan.

Also, Ernest J. Richards, Jr., Lake Worth, FL; Fabrizio Rossini, Washington, DC; Robert L. Sacks, South Orange, NJ; Robert E. Spears, Neptune Beach, FL; A.A. Sumana, Jakarta Barat, Indonesia; Fred Thomas, Tokyo, Japan; William J. Ulrich, Robbinsdale, MN; Barry Wexler, Nanuet, NY; and Mark Wiedlaw, New Lenox, IL.

In addition, John A. Seeger of Flagstaff, AZ, was reinstated as an Associate Member.

The Proceedings are to be published as soon as possible in a special publication of the British Museum.

The American Numismatic Society

BROADWAY AT 155TH STREET

NEW YORK, N.Y. 10032

NON-PROFIT ORG.
U. S. POSTAGE
PAID
NEW YORK, NY
Permit No. 1755

MISSOURI NUMISMATIC SOCIETY
3000 GRAND AVE.
ST. LOUIS, MO 63111